

PINKERTON WINS HIGHEST CHAMBER AWARD

Kimberly A. Pinkerton, President, Wabash County Chamber of Commerce, was awarded the Indiana Chamber Executive Association's Chamber Executive of the Year. This award was initiated to recognize the exemplary performance and leadership of an Indiana chamber executive. Criteria for the award include experience, training and education, ethical conduct in dealing with others, leadership, and an abiding desire to advance the profession of chamber management. 2011 marks the tenth year that the Indiana Chamber Executive Association (ICEA) has honored an excellent leader in the industry.

Ms. Pinkerton was nominated by Wabash County Chamber Board Chair, Mark Sapusek. "There has never been a chamber executive more deserving of the ICEA Chamber Executive of the Year Award than Kim Pinkerton. Kim has provided outstanding service and leadership to our organization throughout the 2010-2011 fiscal year, and her tenure as Chamber President. The Wabash County Chamber of Commerce and the Wabash County community are well served by Kim in her role as chamber president. The Wabash County Chamber of Commerce does more programming for its members and the community than most other Chambers that are twice our size. Without Kim's leadership and dedication it is unlikely many of these programs would be able to be undertaken in the professional fashion that we are used to. I am very proud of Kim and of our chamber staff. This is a great award and great recognition for the outstanding job that the Wabash County Chamber of Commerce does every day," stated Mr. Sapusek.

In nominating Ms. Pinkerton, Mr. Sapusek cited her outstanding leadership, innovative programming and business growth during her twelve year tenure at the Chamber. She is a pivotal leader, dedicated to collaboration within the chamber, her community and at the regional and state level. She has earned respect from Board members for successfully leading the chamber during the recent economic downturn and has kept the chamber fiscally responsible during these trying times.

Ms. Pinkerton works alongside her board, fellow staff member and volunteers to bring programming opportunities to the membership that rival those offered by many larger chambers. She has a great ability to motivate volunteers and hold board members accountable. She values professional development for staff and volunteers as key to succeeding in the chamber industry. Ms. Pinkerton is often the first point of contact that many new chamber execs call upon due to her willingness to help peers succeed. She recently participated in the creation of training videos for new chamber executives as well as an audio training CD for Glenn Shepard Seminars which provides resources for chamber professionals.

Ms. Pinkerton has led sessions at ICEA conferences, always ranking high with the program content delivered. Shelli Williams, ICEA President, remarked, "Kim excels in defining what a chamber of commerce professional should be. She has an outstanding history of leading the Wabash County Chamber and she is a resourceful mentor to help others raise the professional bar."

The Honeywell Center has announced Arts Midwest World Fest, a global outreach performing arts program, has selected Wabash as one of its nine host cities in its 2011-2013 series. The program is dedicated to bringing international music ensembles to the Midwest and selected Wabash for its active arts community and relative location to Harford City, which is home to a 3M plant. 3M, based in Minneapolis, is a major supporter of the World Fest program. During the two-year program, four ensembles representing distinct cultures will visit Wabash. The ensembles will feature week-long residencies held in coordination with the Honeywell Center's Educational Outreach Program. During their stay in Wabash they will feature opportunities such as: Public and school performances; elementary, middle school, high school and college assemblies that focus on music, education and interaction. The first visiting group, Yamma Ensemble, will arrive in October. For more information on this program contact Scott Fulmer, 260.563.1102 ext. 567 or email sfulmer@honeywellcenter.org.

Supported by a $35 million grant, Manchester College will break ground this summer on a School of Pharmacy designed for world-class education, research and wide-reaching collaborations with hundreds of Northeast Indiana health care and education professionals. The school will join the health care growth at Interstate 69 and Dupont Road in north Fort Wayne. This location is just minutes from Parkview's Regional Medical Center and Dupont Hospital, and a quick drive to Lutheran Hospital, St. Joseph Hospital, the VA Northern Indiana Health Care System, DeKalb Memorial Hospital in Auburn, Parkview Hospital on Randallia Drive, and the Indiana University School of Medicine. Until its new facility is ready in July 2012, the School of Pharmacy will continue to occupy the top floor of Carew Medical Park on the Randallia Campus of Parkview Hospital. The accreditation process is on-schedule with the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy education. For more about the Manchester College School of Pharmacy, visit <http://pharmacy.manchester.edu>.

APRIL BLUE RIBBON BUSINESS OF THE MONTH

WABASH COUNTY HOSPITAL

Wabash County Hospital has proudly served our community for 90 years as an independent, citizen-owned facility. Currently maintaining 25 inpatient beds, their highly skilled staff provides critical care, surgery, emergency services, cancer treatment and much more. The hospital is also integral to and an active part of the community, providing numerous free wellness and educational programs, occupational services for area business and industry, home healthcare services, and free and discounted health screenings at health fairs throughout the year. All of this is provided without tax dollar support—that’s right, the hospital receives no tax dollars for funding.

“People tend to think of us as a small town hospital with limited services, but in fact we have specialists for services that many citizens are still unaware of through our facility,” said President/CEO Marilyn Custer-Mitchell. Below is a list that illustrates the depth of that service.

Available Specialists

- General Surgeons
- Orthopedic Surgeons
- Cardiologists
- Oncologists
- Urologist
- Ear, Nose and Throat (ENT)
- Gynecologist
- Cardiovascular Surgeons
- Dermatologist
- Gastroenterologist (GI)
- Nephrologists
- Pain Management Specialist
- Physiatrist
- Podiatrist
- Pulmonologists

SERVICES OFFERED

- Specialty Clinics (see above)
- Home Health Care
- Hospice
- Diabetic counseling
- Oncology (medical oncology)
- Surgery – inpatient, outpatient
- Radiology Services
 - General Radiology
 - CT (Cat Scan)
 - MRI
 - Ultrasound
 - Nuclear Medicine
- Senior Life Solutions
- Sleep Disorder Center
- Skilled Nursing Center
- Cardiac Rehab
- Occupational Medicine Services (Corporate Health/Workplace)
- Physical and Occupational Therapy (Rehab Place)
- Inpatient care
- Emergency Services
- Laboratory

When asked about the future plans of the hospital, Ms. Custer-Mitchell stated that the committee is still working on negotiations for the land. As the process continues, updates will be sent out to the media.

The Chamber urges our members to remember that we have an excellent critical care hospital right here in Wabash County. Wabash County Hospital is a healthcare organization fully accredited by The Joint Commission. Their contact information is: Wabash County Hospital, 710 N. East St., Wabash, IN 46992. A SPECIAL INVITATION From

North Manchester & Wabash County Chambers of Commerce

We are planning a special day of celebration in honor of our Wabash County Small Businesses. Our town and county officials will be issuing a special proclamation declaring WEDNESDAY, MAY 18, AS WABASH COUNTY SMALL BUSINESS APPRECIATION DAY. Our purpose is to bring recognition to our Chamber members, through activities and events that celebrate them, but also to inform the public about the economic contributions of our small businesses and their importance to Wabash County, the region and our state.

We are inviting all of our members to get into the spirit of this celebration by planning now to hold special events at your business on Wednesday, May 18. This could mean an open house, sales, customer appreciation activities, tours or whatever you decide works for your business. In addition to the above proclamation, your Chambers will be doing special advertising to promote your activities, in an effort to get the community out to our businesses. Based upon the feedback you provide per the enclosed form, we will be creating brochures with maps that show where each participating business is located. We will also display this information in full page ads the day before the event.

We truly want to bring attention to our members and what their businesses provide in products and services as well as what our industries produce. In conjunction with this day, we will also be collecting items for the food pantry at Living Well in Wabash County COA. We will coordinate with transit to publicize the availability of transportation to our businesses, as well, for those who may have that need. Businesses may participate in the food drive by establishing a collection box at your site. Transit will arrange for pickup of those donations at the end of the event.

In addition to the above, the Wabash County Chamber office public meeting room will be available for any business member who does not have a Wabash County storefront to man a display area while we serve refreshments throughout the day. Please be sure and let us know, so we may advertise your business at our location that day.

Please help us make this a successful marketing event for you, our members, by choosing to participate, filling out the attached form and returning it to the Wabash County Chamber office by April 11, 2011.

If you have additional questions, please contact Tim at the North Manchester Chamber at 260.982.7644 or Kim or Beth at the Wabash office at 260.563.1168.

Health Care Reform: Still Alive in 2011

April 21, 2011

9:00 a.m. - 12:00 p.m.

Indiana Chamber Conference Center,
Indianapolis

Presented by

One year later, there are still more questions than answers. But health care reform - courtesy of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act - is a reality. And you need to know what you should be doing now. A variety of mandates, penalties and fines are part of the mix. Are you in compliance thus far?

Attend this half-day seminar to get the tools you need to clarify your understanding of health care reform. Subjects to be addressed include:

- implementation timeline;
- lessons learned from early implementation and "mythbusters;"
- new regulations and other guidance impacting employers, including establishment of exchanges and employer/individual penalties;
- market changes for plan year beginning September 23, 2010; changes that apply to grandfathered plans, as well;
- essential minimum benefits;
- penalties for non-compliance;
- subsidies to offset premiums; and
- status of repeal efforts and court challenges.

The Human Resource Certification Institute has approved this seminar for 2.75 hours of strategic recertification credit.

You may register by contacting Sarah at (800) 824-6885 or s_eminars@indianachamber.com. When registering, please use the priority code 8277-E. This seminar is worth one (1) credit toward the completion of your Human Resource Specialist Certificate

BUSINESS ATTENDEES AND SPONSORS STILL NEEDED FOR 10TH ANNUAL HONOR STUDENT LUNCHEON

The Wabash County and North Manchester Chambers of Commerce will be co-sponsoring the 10th Annual Honor Student Luncheon on Thursday, April 21, 2011, at the Honeywell Center, 275 W. Market St, Wabash, IN.

The purpose of this luncheon is to honor top graduating seniors from local high schools (North Manchester, Northfield, Southwood, Wabash City and Whites), and to have an opportunity to encourage local talent to return to their home county for employment opportunities during the summers or after graduation from their college experience. This is just a small step in the effort to cultivate the “brain gain” in Indiana, building our future workforce.

This event has been overwhelmingly successful over the past nine years. The Chambers of Commerce hope to build on this opportunity to meet and talk to our area’s finest young men and women. Students and businesses will be paired according to area of vocational interest for maximum networking opportunity, as well as offering the students the chance to gain keen insights into real world aspects of that particular area of business. Internships and summer employment opportunities will also be announced.

Karen Eilts-Walter, owner of Make It Your Own Art Studio and Co-owner of Hank’s Construction, will be the keynote speaker. As an encouragement to have our students return and utilize their talents in Wabash County, Ms. Walter will reflect on her time spent away from the Wabash area and her reasons for returning to and establishing her business in her home community.

Manchester College will once again be the luncheon’s Academic Sponsor. Executive Vice President David F. McFadden will serve as the event emcee. The 2011 America’s Best Colleges guide of U.S. News & World Report ranks Manchester College 18th in the Midwest among “Best Colleges” and eighth in its “Great Schools, Great Prices” ranking. MC has received the “Best College” ranking for 16 consecutive years. The Princeton Review college guide also consistently ranks Manchester as a “Best in the Midwest.”

Supporters of the Honor Student Luncheon are encouraged to make reservations to attend and network with the students as well as sponsor student lunches. The cost is $25 per person or student sponsorship. Invitations were recently mailed to businesses and reservations are due by April 6. Registration is available at www.wabashchamber.org or you may contact either Chamber for more information. Telephone North Manchester 260.982.7644 or Wabash 260.563.1168.
